The Parenting Calendar Summer 2010

For People in the Central Puget Sound Area Who Live or Work with Children and Youth

Our mission is to nurture dignity for all by encouraging democratic relationships and a sense of belonging.

The Parenting Calendar lists all the courses, conferences, support groups, and facilitator trainings for parent education that we are aware of in the central Puget Sound area, as well as a number of online resources. We publish the calendar quarterly at www.pasadler.org/calendar.pdf and update it frequently between issues. We hope you will find it useful!

We are most familiar with Adlerian-based events and services, which are shown in boxes throughout the calendar. We encourage you to select a course or support group that focuses on developing respectful family relationships, not a course that provides "behavior management" (reward and punishment) (see our mission statement above). Adlerian-based courses have that focus, and many others do not.

Research is showing that children raised respectfully tend to have many fewer mental and physical illnesses in later life. See "Improving parenting: the why and the how," downloadable for $20 (it's well worth it!) at <http://adc.bmj.com/cgi/content/extract/93/2/102>. The author is Sarah Stewart-Brown, a medical doctor, researcher, and director of a school of public health in the UK. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, in collaboration with Kaiser Permanente's Health Appraisal Clinic in San Diego, has found that experiences of childhood maltreatment "are major risk factors for the leading causes of illness and death in later life as well as poor quality of life in the United States. Progress in preventing and recovering from the nation's worst health and social problems is likely to benefit from the understanding that many of these problems arise as a consequence of adverse childhood experiences." (From the ACE Study, "one of the largest investigations ever conducted on the links between childhood maltreatment and later-life health and well-being." (www.cdc.gov/needphp/ACE/))

The Puget Sound Adlerian Society (PSAS), a 501(c)(3) nonprofit educational organization, co-sponsors an award-winning parenting course, Sanity Circus, with schools and other nonprofit groups. We also offer free monthly First Friday Forums, training for parent educators (with Positive Discipline Associates), and a Certificate Program and quarterly Professional Development Seminars for counselors and therapists. We welcome membership inquiries and visitors to our library. See Parenting with PSAS (below) for more information about parenting. For PSAS Events, see www.pasadler.org/education.pdf.

If you are interested in scheduling an Adlerian parenting instructor, please call or e-mail us for names and contact information. If you teach or sponsor parenting courses, we would much appreciate your purchasing course books from us—for a 15% discount. Our book list is at www.pasadler.org/booklist.pdf.

To Contributors to the Calendar:

Thanks again for your pledges! They make this issue possible. If you have anything to add to this issue, or any updates, please let us know. Also please let us know about corrections. We try not to make mistakes, and we apologize for any that occur.

A Shortcut to Finding What You Want

If you are looking for a particular type or location of course or support group, you may save time and paper by not printing out the whole document. (It will be updated soon anyway!) Instead, use the "find" function in your computer. For example, to find events for parents of young children, click "control-F" (in Word) and enter PY (from the Key below) in the "Find what" blank. Keep clicking on "Find Next" to find each course or support group for parents of young children. You can also use "control-F" and enter "Spanish," or "Auburn," an agency's name, or any other category you wish, and check through the document.

Spanish-language courses, groups, and books are shown in red, African-American in plum, Iraqi & Muslim in orange, Russian in brown, Chinese in violet, Japanese in pink, and Korean in aqua.

Key

Parenting with PSAS

A nonprofit educational organization founded in 1975, the Puget Sound Adlerian Society (PSAS) offers information, referrals, workshops, lectures, courses, and other resources and support to parents, parent educators, teachers, counselors, social workers, workplace managers, and other people who are interested in mutually respectful, cooperative relationships—community-building—in families, classrooms, workplaces, and everywhere else. Our mission is to nurture the dignity of all by encouraging democratic relationships and a sense of belonging.

Parent education has been an important focus for many years. We help parents choose attitudes and actions of respect for their children and themselves—attitudes and actions that strengthen a child's sense of belonging and strengthen the family. Kids don't come with instructions: it is all too easy to put children, family relations, and marriages at risk when parents just need some new skills and positive expectations.

What Is Adlerian Psychology?

Alfred Adler, M.D. (1870-1937), a Viennese physician and psychiatrist, was the first in his field to note the relevance of social relationships to mental and physical health, and to emphasize the crucial importance of nurturing our innate ability to cooperate as equal human beings and to encourage one another and ourselves. Adler came to believe that "Gemeinschaftsgefühl"—caring for the cares of others—could help transform people and the world. Lecturing and teaching in Europe and America, he worked hard to help parents, teachers, students, and his clients develop a more democratic mindset and a stronger sense of community. He called his approach "Individual Psychology," "individual" meaning "holistic" in the German sense of the word. He wrote:

Individual Psychology instructs in self-understanding, the understanding of others, independence, and encouragement. . . . Its foremost task is to establish among the broad masses of the people a firm basis for a sound, optimistic view and conduct of life, promoting the welfare of all. Born from good common sense, it returns to the people in purified and practically applicable form what it has received from them. It feels at one with the noblest striving and the most sublime peaceful ideals of humanity freed from hatred. . . . We have the firm conviction that along our way a happier future for humanity can be found.

Choosing mutual respect, cooperation, and contribution is a choice for healthy families and healthy communities and is relevant to all cultures with democratic values. Many of the world's religions express this same sense of mutual respect in some form of the Golden Rule.

"Giving your child the gift of inner discipline"

In culture after culture around the globe, authoritarian methods in governments are fading, replaced by more democratic governments. In this country, the democratic evolution has reached women and is reaching children. More and more families want to help children to live responsibly in a democratic, not authoritarian or permissive, setting—for the sake of our families and for the sake of living our lives as effective and caring citizens in the broader community.

Democratic parents are authoritative and set clear, nonnegotiable limits in matters of safety, health, and morality (for example, requiring your young child to hold your hand while crossing a street, or requiring your middle-schooler to let you know where he/she is). For other matters, we work out guidelines, choices, and solutions, often together in family meetings. We chose to *encourage children and help them learn to solve problems rather than to order, reward, and punish them as in the authoritarian model. Barbara Coloroso, author of Kids Are Worth It!, calls this "giving your child the gift of inner discipline," or helping our children learn how to think, not what to think. Alfie Kohn, author of Unconditional Parenting, calls this "working with," rather than "doing to," children. Some parents have revolted against authoritarian methods and have chosen permissiveness, which leaves children unclear about what behavior is acceptable (respectful) and what is not, thereby jeopardizing their sense of belonging and contributing. Adlerian parenting offers effective, family-building choices that also engender peaceful communities.

Mutual Respect

We believe that the kind and firm attitudes and actions of mutual respect are teachable and learnable. Adlerian parenting courses for parents of young children address everyday challenges such as getting the kids off to school in the morning, homework, chores, fighting, bedtime, and finding time together—without ourselves yelling and fighting or being otherwise disrespectful. Children and youth may still make some poor choices (we are all fallible human beings), but if we parent our children with respectful guidance while they are young, they are less likely to be at risk in their youth. A Stanford University study shows that youth raised in democratic families do better in school. University of New Brunswick researchers say that how you bring up your children affects their future more than how much money you earn. They recommend providing a warm and caring environment and encouraging independence. The ACE Study, noted on p. 1, and a great deal of other research, suggest there may well be immense health benefits from raising children who feel cared for and respected.

Adlerian-Based Parenting Courses

Adler's colleague Rudolf Dreikurs, MD, and several other teachers and counselors have developed parenting courses based on Adlerian Psychology. Millions of parents of various cultural and ethnic backgrounds in this country and elsewhere have taken these courses through schools, churches, family centers, the military, community colleges, and other providers. This calendar shows these Adlerian-based courses in boxes. Many other parenting programs have been influenced by Adlerian Psychology. We would be happy to refer you to Adlerian instructors if your organization wishes to sponsor parenting courses. These are some Adlerian-based courses (Spanish-language courses and books are shown in red):

Active Parenting Now, Padres Activos de Hoy, Active Parenting of Teens, Active Parenting for Stepfamilies, 1,2,3,4 Parents!, *1, 2, 3, 4 ¡Padres!, by Michael Popkin, PhD, and others, www.activeparenting.com

Developing Capable Young People, by H. Stephen Glenn, PhD, www.capabilitiesinc.com

Parenting with Positive Discipline (in Spanish, Disciplina con valor, amor, y firmeza), using the books Positive Discipline, Positive Discipline for Teenagers, Positive Discipline for Preschoolers, Positive Discipline: The First Three Years, Positive Discipline for Single Parents, Positive Discipline for Parenting in Recovery, Positive Discipline for Blended Families, Disciplina positiva, and Disciplina positiva para adolescentes, by Jane Nelsen, EdD, and others (including PSAS member Roslyn Duffy!), www.positivediscipline.com

Raising Kids Who Can, by Amy Lew, PhD, and Betty Lou Bettner, PhD

Respectful Parenting, by Lily Anderson

Sanity Circus, and Disciplina con valor, amor, y firmeza, co-sponsored by PSAS with local PTAs and nonprofit groups, www.pasasadler.org.

The STEP series: Systematic Training for Effective Parenting (school-age STEP), Parenting Teenagers (STEP/Teen), Parenting Young Children (early childhood STEP), and Guía para los padres, by Don Dinkmeyer & Gordon McKay, www.parentingeducation.com.

PSAS Resources

The Parenting Calendar. Four times a year, PSAS posts The Parenting Calendar on our Web site at www.pasasadler.org/calendar.pdf. For an e-mail notice of each quarterly issue, please call or e-mail us, 206-527-2566, psas@att.net. We update each issue as new information becomes available.

Books, Tapes, and Videos. PSAS has a library and also offers parenting resources and other books, tapes, and videos for sale. See www.pasasadler.org/booklist.pdf for PSAS Books, Tapes, and Videos. A discount on quantity purchases (usually 15%) is available to schools and libraries, and also to course instructors for course books. Our library has a good collection of books on parenting, teaching, counseling, and theory. Library books are available without charge (other than mailing), and videos and DVDs may be rented for a small fee. Please call ahead to visit (206-527-2566). Our library catalog is available at www.librarything.com/catalog/PSASLibrary.

Membership and First Friday Forums. Please call or e-mail us for copies of our brochure and other membership information. See www.pasasadler.org/membership.pdf for the membership application form. Members receive a 20% discount on most book, tape, and video purchases for personal use. Members and friends are welcome to our First Friday Forums (usually the first Friday of the month) with presentations and discussion on various topics including parenting. For dates and topics, please see PSAS Events at www.pasasadler.org/education.pdf or ask to be put on our "Friends" e-mail list for event notices.

Parenting Courses and Facilitator Training. PSAS now offers the award-winning course Sanity Circus and Disciplina con valor, amor, y firmeza and co-sponsors Teaching Parenting the Positive Discipline Way.

Continuing Education for Mental Health Professionals and Educators. PSAS offers a Certificate Program for Professional Studies in the Psychology of Alfred Adler (co-sponsored with the North American Society of Adlerian Psychology), and a quarterly Professional Development Seminar. CE hours and clock hours are available. Please see www.pasasadler.org/certificate.pdf and www.pasasadler.org/education.pdf.

Referrals. Call PSAS, 206-527-2566, for referrals to Adlerian counselors, therapists, and parenting instructors.

Adlerian-based courses, groups, and services are shown in boxes, like this.

We include Adlerian programs and other programs in this calendar. Many parenting programs borrow from Adlerian Psychology but do not call themselves Adlerian.
